

BLUEWING TEAL

Duck Call

We designed this call especially for the teal hunter. It is perfect for choppy, high-pitched teal quacks. This teal call reproduces the quacks of the bluewing, greenwing and cinnamon hen teal with perfect tone and volume. In addition to calling teal in close, using this call along with other duck calls, will add realism to your set-up.

INSTRUCTIONS & EXERCISES

Holding the Call - Place the call between your thumb and index finger, where the barrel and the bell join. Fold your fourth and fifth fingers flat against the palm of your hand. Imagine that the call is the duck's voice and your hand is the duck's mouth.

Quack - Blow into the call with tight cheeks and lips. Put air into the call in a loud whisper saying the word, "Too, To, To, To, To, To" tapering the volume at the end of the call.

Use the call of the hen teal when teal approach your position. Once they appear to be responding to your call - quit calling. If they circle and don't come in, wait until the ducks are to one side of the spread or going away, and blow the call immediately. This will invite the ducks to return to your spread.
